From Our Early Files

For the young married men-deer by Thad Holt, State relief director, as the neglected men of the New Deal, the Alabama Relief Administration will conduct a six-month farm training camp on government-owned farm lands in Coffee County.

"Plans are under way for old-age pensions," said Holt, sitting at his desk before a sea of charts, tabulations and figures, "and we have established CCC camps for young single men. This camp will be for the men you've neglected, the young married men from 18 to 25. We're going to take 400 young married men from the 21 South Alabama counties surrounding Coffee and give them six months training that will enable them to become the future citizens of Alabama."

Holt, former newspaperman and a devotee of brevity, spun around in his swivel chair. "Here's the dope:" We'll start April 1 and send 400 young married men to a farm camp in Coffee County near Elba. They will work 30 hours a week, and like the CCC campers, will send the greatest part of their pay back home. We have finally decided on the rate of pay.

There they will work on farm lands under the Smartest men in Alabama's extension service. We will teach them how to build their own homes, fences, etc. Experts from the State Health Department will teach them the inside work of farm sanitation. The Forestry Commission will show them how to re-forest and prevent soil erosion. For six months they will study and learn every phase in the development of farm communities. If they make good, they will be offered the opportunity to buy a home-stead in their own community on long term notes. I believe it will be the only thing of the kind in the whole country. The Government has 32,000 acres in Coffee County owned by the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans, and most of it is just the redemption time limit. Most of it is in 20-acre farms, but will be broken up into small farms. The Government will give each family a house, well, mule, cow, pig and hen and the right to buy over a long period of time.

The scientific knowledge of every agency of the State will be used to make a success. There are 368 rehabilitation families in Coffee County now on somebody else's land, and if they make good, they will be transferred to these model farms. Since most of them have already planted their crops for this season, the transfer will not be made until next season."

Holt said the A R A would establish a planning board in Coffee County at once to lay the ground work for the project when the transfer of families is made next season.

MODERN ETIQUETTE

Q. If one is eating in a restaurant where small butter pats are served in little paper containers, is it all right to let the knife rest on the pat when not in use?
A. Never. The knife, when not in use, should rest along the upper right part of the plate—and never of course, on the butter pat.

Q. To remove soot spots from a rug or carpet, cover it with dry salt, and work this around until it becomes soiled. Then sweep up the salt.
Smooth Hands
The only way for the housewife to keep the hands smooth during the winter months is to keep a bottle of hand lotion in the kitchen and use it after washing the dishes.

Q. When approaching a revolving door with a woman, does the man enter first, or does he allow her to enter first?
A. He enters the woman ahead of him. In fact, he is better able to control the revolving door if he does go first. Q. What is the proper order of recession at the conclusion of a church wedding ceremony?
A. Just the reverse of how the party entered. The bride and bridegroom should lead, followed by the bridesmaids and the ushers.

Q. Just why is the wedding ring placed on the finger first, the engagement ring over it?
A. The reason is a practical one. The wedding ring, being a plain band, does not require much cleaning and in many instances is never taken off. Whereas the engagement ring is taken off constantly.

Q. When a guest passes cigarettes after a meal, isn't it permissible for a guest to smoke his own if he prefers to do so?
A. No; the guest should accept the cigarette proffered by his hostess.

Q. Is it all right to use cream-colored or tinted personal cards?
A. White cards are in much better taste.

Q. One of my very good girl friends passed away recently. Her birthday is coming soon. Would it be all right for me to send some flowers to her mother on this day?
A. Although this is a kind thought on your part, this sort of birthday reminder might cause greater pain than solace. It would be better if, on occasion, you went to see your friend's mother.

Q. Our daughter has just informed us of her secret marriage two months ago. Would it be proper for us to announce the marriage at this time?
A. It would be quite proper for you to mail out announcements of the marriage.

Q. Should a dinner guest who has finished eating immediately place his napkin on the table?
A. Not until his hostess has placed her napkin on the table.

Q. When a husband and wife are calling on friends, which one should suggest leaving?
A. It is quite proper for either one to make the first move, merely by asking the other, "Don't you think we had better be leaving?"

Librarians From Alabama Schools Exchange Ideas

School librarians from the Third District met on April 30 at Troy State Teachers College for a work-shop session. The topic for discussion was "Stimulating Reading for Fun."

The meeting was opened by Dr. C. B. Smith, President of Troy State Teachers College, who welcomed the group to the Troy campus. Miss Blackshire then gave a short introduction in which she discussed the library program in general and introduced a symposium in members who discussed various phases of the reading program in schools.

After lunch in the Troy student Center Cafeteria, a panel was formed consisting of Mr. Guy Smith, formerly a high school principal, now with the State Department of Education; Miss Martha Smith of the State Department of Education; Mrs. Rutledge, school librarian of Bundick, Mrs. Eliza Beamgard, public librarian of Goshen. Many questions vital to the interest of librarians were presented to the panel for discussion by the librarians present. Topics discussed were the relationship with the handle of the knife resting on the table.

Angora Socks Should Never Be Rubbed

Angora socks should never be rubbed. Rubbing thoroughly in water of the same temperature and roll in a towel to squeeze out the excess moisture. Dry on wire or board forms, if you have them. If not, trace the original outline on cardboard and cut around the edges for a good form to slip inside the socks.

Miami Family Is Visiting in Elba

Mr. and Mrs. D. K. McDowell and daughter, Miss Donna, of Miami, Fla., are visiting in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. McDowell.

The McDowell family moved to Miami from Missouri in 1913 and although all the rest of the family have scattered to the four winds since that time, Donald has resided there continuously and says he wouldn't trade Miami for any other place he has ever found.

He has seen Miami grow from a little city of 7,500 population to more than half a million, and it is still growing by leaps and bounds. It might be remarked in passing that he has never lived here long enough to learn about the real advantages of living in Elba, Ala.

Mother's Day Is Appropriate Here

Mother's Day was appropriately observed in Elba Sunday. Usually, large congregations attended the morning services in the various churches. Impassioned sermons were delivered on the subject of what Motherhood means to our homes, communities, country and the world.

Fish Fry Enjoyed By Methodist Men

The Elba Methodist Men's Club held a fish fry at the home of M. J. Lee Monday night. The fish represented a lot of hard fishing by a number of the members. A number of expert cooks manipulated the delicacy equipped with cooking and serving devices in the Lee yard and the 40 men present enjoyed a real feast.

Attorney J. C. Fleming, guest speaker, delivered an eloquent address on "Bear Ye Another's Burdens, and Sharing the Other Fellow's Problems."

It was voted to attend the revival services at Ham's Chapel Wednesday night. Pastor Ralph Hendricks is conducting services each night this week in the newly completed church building. It is hoped to have a large attendance Wednesday night.

Postmaster Tower Cooper is spending two weeks in Selma at Greg Field where he is on a tour of active duty with the U. S. Air Force.

Gas District Now Serving 16,000 Customers in Area

The Southeast Alabama Gas District, created in 1932 by legislative act, but which has been in operation for only about one year, is now serving approximately 16,000 customers in Southeast Alabama, and is showing steady growth.

The District, said to be the largest municipal gas district in the world, serves 24 municipalities with an aggregate population of more than 100,000, including areas where service can be rendered.

Cost of the system was approximately $19,000,000. The Gas District operates over 380 miles of transmission lines and more than 485 miles of distribution lines.

The 24 communities in the District are Abbeville, Andalusia, Brundage, Dothan, Elba, Enterprise, Eufaula, Fort Deposit, Greenville, Headland, Laverne, Opp, Ozark and Troy, which are the 14 member cities of the District. And those cities having franchise agreements with the District for natural gas service: Bentley, Gantt, Glenwood, Midland City, New Brockton, Newton, Newville, Pinckard, Rutledge and Seale.

The directors are composed of one from each member city: J. T. Throver, president; Dothan; M. N. Brown, vice-president; Enterprise; Carroll Lawrence, secretary-treasurer; Troy; H. H. McSwain, assistant secretary-treasurer.

Other directors are: Herschel Taylor, Elba; Douglas Brown, Ozark; Jack Bridges, Headland; Ned Moore, Opp; Nix Hawkins, Laverne; James Bryan, Brundage; Leland Enzer, Andalusia.

Cotton, Peanut Growers Sent Acreage Forms

Recently, all cotton and peanut farmers in Coffee County were mailed Form M-30-31, "Request to Preserve Acreage History" for cotton and peanuts in 1957.

Along with this form, farmers were mailed a letter explaining it and informing them that June 1, 1957 was the deadline for filing these requests.

Lester Gunter, Chairman of the Coffee County ASC Committee, pointed out that it is highly desirable for all old peanut and cotton farmers to file this request for preservation of acreage history for cotton and peanuts on any farm simply by making this request. A request must be filed for each crop year.

Should a continued development which would cause an allotment to be underplanted, the allotment for the following year is automatically protected. If this acreage preservation form is not filed, preservation of allotment history is most important to all farmers.

Mr. Gunter concluded by urging every farmer in Coffee County who has not returned this form to do so before the deadline, which is June 1, 1957.

A short-wave radio system keeps the Andalusia office in constant contact with all operating personnel in the field.

The District purchases its gas from the Southern Natural Gas Company with delivery at two Central Alabama points: Elmore and Opelika.

The Elba office is located in the Rove Drug Store, next to the postoffice, with Mrs. Duwood English in charge. Owen Ziglar is chief troubleshooter.

THE ELBA CLIPPER

Long Beach, Florida, last week was a revelation. I had no idea so many people vacationed so early, but the beaches were packed. Peggy Devane was there with her group of Seniors who really had fun. We enjoyed the wonderful service at the Long Beach Resort Hotel which opened only seven weeks ago, and took our meals across the street at the Resort Restaurant where exceptionally nice waitresses entertained the baby so we could drink a second cup of coffee. Everyone was so pleasant.

My Thanks to everyone for being so considerate and putting up with not-too-interesting copy lately, what with all of having the flu we haven't been quite up to writing, but will do better now.

THE BOYS are home now and how good to see them again. Edd Kendrick, on leave from the Navy, came by one pretty afternoon and told us of his recent experiences as a sailor. Edd was all smiles over being home again. He told us of seeing Christine Wilson, who is studying fashion design in Washington, while in the Capital City.

Doyle Morrow and Robert Newton have arrived from tours of duty in the Orient and have been enjoying "just being home." Both seemed so tall and broad shouldered that we hardly recognized them as the boys who went away.

Also home, and wearing a broad smile for everyone, is Braxton Dewberry, who is one of the few people I've never known who could wear his hair "crew cut."

ROUND 'N ABOUT: Happy Birthday greetings are in store for Grace Waters.

Never dry a fur coat which has been worn in rain or wet snow near a radiator. Intense heat injures the skin. First remove the moisture with a dry cloth, then hang the coat in a cool place where it will dry.

Odors can be prevented from the pipe in the sink by putting a tablespoonful of carbolic acid in a half cup of water and pouring down the pipe.

Drying Clothes Do not let the clothes hang on the line if there is a high wind in night, rain, sleet or pull the clothes out of shape, making it more difficult to iron.

Hot Food Keep food hot by covering securely with the lid or a tin pan, and placing the vessel over a basin of hot water. When vegetables are cooked, drain and cover securely in wet wrap in paper and set in oven with out fire. They will keep hot for a long time.

Ex-Navy Men Can Re-Enlist For Service School

The Navy is now offering to qualified former Navy men the opportunity to re-enlist and go directly to a Navy Service School. This new "re-enlist and go to school" program is effective now to Navy veterans who can meet the requirements for Navy Schools.

This will enable former Navy men who qualify for schools to be assigned to one prior to re-enlisting. Chief Petty Officer Bazel of the Dothan Ala. Navy Recruiting Station said that each man who wishes to apply for this program will have to be screened individually to determine his qualifications.

Men who re-enlist in pay grade E-4 or above may be eligible to go directly to a Navy advanced school, Class B or C. Requests for these schools may be submitted directly from Navy Recruiting Stations with no obligation to re-enlist.

An interesting sidelight of this new program is that men in the lower pay grades in the technical school and a change of rate if they meet the qualifications. This will let men who were in a crowded field change over to a field where more qualified men are needed.

Complete information on this subject is available to interested persons at the Dothan Ala. Navy Recruiting Station.

A person who desires to determine if he is qualified for a Navy school should see the Navy Recruiter there.

OUT ON A LIMB

Last winter, O'Zee bought him self one of them prefabricated houses. But the house turned out to be a complete failure, and he wrote a rip-roaring letter to the manufacturer.

An inspector came out to investigate. "You idiot," he roared, "you've put up the whole thing upside down. Oh, that's the trouble, is it?" replied O'Zee. "No wonder I kept falling off the porch!"

Lots of farmers are making extra money these days by growing Christmas trees—either as a separate crop, or as a secondary product from wood lots managed for timber.

A Christmas tree crop is valuable — so it's important to protect it properly against fire, disease, insects, grazing and trespassing. A good road system through the entire area will make it easier to harvest your trees, and it'll provide fire protection, too. And usually you'll cut and stack prior to harvesting.

Thinning is necessary if a Christmas tree farm is to be kept productive. When trees become too thick, they quickly lose their market value. So some of the trees should be removed to provide additional growing space for the rest. I like to do my thinning at harvest time, always saving the best trees quality. And after thinning, I always kill the stump by removing all the green branches. Cause, if you don't, these branches will fill in the openings, making it impossible for remaining trees to take advantage of the additional growing space!

I prune my Christmas trees by removing the lower limbs of thin-foliated trees. This stimulates heavier growth in the top. Generally, this type of pruning is used on trees that are thin-topped, forked, or diseased. Also trees that produce four-to-five Christmas trees within two to four years after being pruned. Thin-foliated trees retard the growth of smaller trees, but wouldn't it they were pruned.

I think Christmas tree growing can be a mighty profitable enterprise, and there's a lot of satisfaction in it, too!

A pigeon came home late for dinner one evening, with his feathers bedragged and his eyes bloodshot. "I was out mindin' my own business," he explained, "when I kidnaped I got caught in a badminton game!"

So long, folks. See you soon!

THE ELBA CLIPPER

Thursday, May 16, 1957

Long Beach, Florida, last week was a revelation. I had no idea so many people vacationed so early, but the beaches were packed. Peggy Devane was there with her group of Seniors who really had fun. We enjoyed the wonderful service at the Long Beach Resort Hotel which opened only seven weeks ago, and took our meals across the street at the Resort Restaurant where exceptionally nice waitresses entertained the baby so we could drink a second cup of coffee. Everyone was so pleasant.

My Thanks to everyone for being so considerate and putting up with not-too-interesting copy lately, what with all of having the flu we haven't been quite up to writing, but will do better now.

THE BOYS are home now and how good to see them again. Edd Kendrick, on leave from the Navy, came by one pretty afternoon and told us of his recent experiences as a sailor. Edd was all smiles over being home again. He told us of seeing Christine Wilson, who is studying fashion design in Washington, while in the Capital City.

Doyle Morrow and Robert Newton have arrived from tours of duty in the Orient and have been enjoying "just being home." Both seemed so tall and broad shouldered that we hardly recognized them as the boys who went away.

Also home, and wearing a broad smile for everyone, is Braxton Dewberry, who is one of the few people I've never known who could wear his hair "crew cut."

ROUND 'N ABOUT: Happy Birthday greetings are in store for Grace Waters.

Never dry a fur coat which has been worn in rain or wet snow near a radiator. Intense heat injures the skin. First remove the moisture with a dry cloth, then hang the coat in a cool place where it will dry.

Odors can be prevented from the pipe in the sink by putting a tablespoonful of carbolic acid in a half cup of water and pouring down the pipe.

Drying Clothes Do not let the clothes hang on the line if there is a high wind in night, rain, sleet or pull the clothes out of shape, making it more difficult to iron.

Hot Food Keep food hot by covering securely with the lid or a tin pan, and placing the vessel over a basin of hot water. When vegetables are cooked, drain and cover securely in wet wrap in paper and set in oven with out fire. They will keep hot for a long time.

Forest Acreage Trend is Marked

Progress in forest management on taxpaying lands indicates the United States will maintain, and even improve, its present favorable balance of wood growth over removal, notwithstanding a growing population and increasing consumption of wood.

Intis newest booklet, "Our Growing Wood Supply," American Forest Products Industries, sponsor of the Tree Farm movement, says the present forest situation "gives promise of adequate supplies of wood for our growing population in the years ahead."

The booklet, described as the most comprehensive report ever compiled on what the forest industries are doing to meet the country's growing demand for wood, says that to maintain and improve the present favorable balance will require "hard work." But it adds, "what is happening in our forests and forest industries today indicates we will achieve it."

The book points to the forest industry's role in expansion of forest management, greater utilization of all parts of the tree, fire prevention, better control of insects and disease, a growing roster of professional foresters, research developments and the American Tree Farm system itself as factors now contributing to the nation's growing wood supply.

"For the first time in many years, our forests are growing more wood than we are using," says the four-color booklet, which is receiving nationwide distribution. "The practice of good forestry on private lands is spreading rapidly."

The present favorable timber balance, the book says, was revealed in the government's newest appraisal of forest resources, which shows total annual growth of the nation's forest growing stock exceeds total removal—harvest plus mortality—by 25 per cent. In removal of sawtimber size, total removal is only 2 per cent higher than total growth.

Shaping House Plants Plants growing in the house may be kept in shape by pinching the end buds of the shoots that grow too vigorously.

Parsley Parsley will be much easier to cut if it is washed in hot water instead of cold.
